

Varga Opens Up About His Battle With Cancer

*Exclusive interview with SKS
by TJ Jorgensen 6/17/09*

Ever since Shane Varga was diagnosed with cancer in April, he has refused to allow outside media such as local television and radio stations from interviewing him. He is a very shy person and wants to keep his personal life private, including his battle with, and eventually beating, Hodgkins Lymphoma.

On Wednesday, Shane decided now was the time to open up and talk about his battle, his love for his friends and family and his powerful faith in God, which he attributes to getting him this far. Click the icon below to hear the 24-minute emotional phone interview between myself and my friend, Shane Varga.